

BEING PART OF A BODY CORPORATE CAN FEEL OVERWHELMING

For many owners and committee members, navigating Body Corporate responsibilities can be confusing, time-consuming, and stressful.

There are meetings to run, budgets to manage, maintenance decisions to make, legal obligations to understand, owners to communicate with, and often differing opinions on what should happen next.

Most committee members are volunteers doing their best for their community — but it can sometimes feel like you're expected to become an expert overnight.

That's where the Body Corporate Communities Group (BCCG) can help.

WHAT IS BCCG?

BCCG is a New Zealand membership organisation dedicated to empowering multi-unit communities.

Established in 2012, BCCG was created to help Bodies Corporate better understand their responsibilities, navigate the Unit Titles Act, and make informed decisions with greater confidence.

Today, BCCG supports Bodies Corporate across New Zealand by providing trusted resources, advocacy, education, and connections that help communities operate more effectively and confidently.

BCCG's goal is simple:
To help transform the way we live together by supporting stronger, more informed, and more connected communities.

HOW THIS BENEFITS YOUR COMMUNITY

An informed and supported committee can:

- make better decisions
- improve communication with owners
- reduce risk and uncertainty
- better plan for maintenance and finances
- navigate challenges more confidently
- help protect property values
- create a stronger and more connected community environment

BCCG exists to help Bodies Corporate build communities that are informed, resilient, and better prepared for the future.
